

WILL BUILD NEW TOWN OF BOSTONIA

Decision of Samuel Newhouse to Erect Concentrating Mills and Houses at Pelican Point.

ORDERS PLACED FOR MATERIAL

Masons, Carpenters and Laborers Engaged to Begin Operations at Once—Lehi Strictly in It.

Special Correspondence.

Lehi, Utah Co., May 18.—Present prospects for Lehi have never looked better in years and this is due in a great measure to the decision of Samuel Newhouse to build the town of Bostonia at Pelican Point around the lake from here and the erection of large concentrating mills and houses there. The prospect that Lehi will get the central experiment farm and the erection of a large new schoolhouse, the Western plant at the factory, and other improvements here, all indicate that there will be something doing in and around Lehi this summer, and for some time to come.

Chief Metallurgist A. J. Bettles, who will have general supervision of the construction of the reduction plant for the Boston Consolidated Mining company at Pelican Point of Bostonia, and W. Thomas were in Lehi Tuesday and placed a large order with the Rockwell Mercantile company for lumber and other building material. They also engaged masons, carpenters and other laborers to go to work at once and erect houses at that place. Flowing wells are being driven in large numbers at Bostonia and soon ground will be broken for the great concentrating plant, which will cost over $200,000.

Chief Engineer Baxter of the Rio Grande Western was in Lehi today and immediately upon arrival he drove over to the country west of Lehi and between the new town of Bostonia and the Rio Grande Western track, his visit being for the purpose of ascertaining the cost of a spur from the D. & R. G. track from a point just north of Lehi to the new town.

Mr. Parsons, chief counsel, and Mr. Willis, both of Mr. Newhouse's staff, were in Lehi today and drove over to the town of Bostonia on business connected with the founding of that town. There is a well founded rumor about that Mr. Newhouse is negotiating for the purchase of the Ravenna Springs and other property belonging to the Utah Sugar company on the west shore of Utah lake, within seven miles of Bostonia, and also for the Alton ranch, north of the Saratoga Springs. The Ravenna Springs has been made an excellent resort by the Utah Sugar company, it having built an immense plunge bath, dancing hall, ball grounds, and laid out lawns and planted trees and shrubs, and its acquisition by Mr. Newhouse would make much of the town of Bostonia, as it is considered one of the ideal resorts of the state.

RICHARD BRIMLEY DEAD.

Former Bishop of the Fifth Ward Succumbs to General Debility.

Richard Brimley, an old-time resident of this city, and for seven years Bishop of the Fifth ward, passed peacefully away at his home, 375 West Sixth street, at 11:30 last night, after an illness which covered a period of several months. The deceased was afflicted with a cancerous growth on the right ear and this, with his advanced age, was directly responsible for his demise. He was a man greatly beloved by the people of the Fifth ward, and by all with whom he had been associated coming to Salt Lake, and his passing will be much regretted by his many friends.

Richard Brimley was the son of John Brimley and Rachel Whittle, and was born Aug. 26, 1828, in the village of Exeter, Lancashire, England, where he was baptized into the Church in the fall of 1848 by Elder James Lee, and became a member of the Daubert Lane branch, and presided over the Exeter, Leyland, Moss and Longton branches successively. With his wife, Ann Southworth, and seven children, he emigrated to America in 1865, crossing the Atlantic in the ship "Constitution," which sailed from Liverpool June 24 and arrived at New York Aug. 5 of that year. This was the last sailing vessel ever chartered by the Church to bring emigrating Saints over the Atlantic. Elder Brimley and family crossed the plains in Capt. John Gillespie's ox-team, arriving here Sept. 15, 1865. Soon after he identified himself with the Sixth ward, where he subsequently acted as second counselor to Bishop William H. Hickenlooper, and also as superintendent of the ward Sunday school. When Elder Brimley was reorganized in 1877, which position he held with honor and credit until 1884, when he resigned and was succeeded by Elder S. M. T. Reddon, the present Bishop. Since his baptism in his native land he has been a faithful and devoted member of the Church, ever bearing a firm testimony of its divinity and setting an example

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY.

(DO YOU REMEMBER?)

John A. Logan was re-elected United States senator from Illinois. Victor Hugo was reported to be dying in Paris. M. De Neuville, the famous military painter, died in Paris.

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY.

Robert Tyler Jones, a grandson of President Tyler, the only male person ever born in the White House, died in Washington.

A bill became law in Mexico providing that apprehended train robbers should be promptly executed without formality of being tried.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY.

A man named Mather shot himself and then jumped into the Jordan river. After being rescued he confessed to having murdered his wife and four children at Tremont, Ill. five days before his attempted suicide.

The statue of Gen. Grant was unveiled in Washington, D. C.

well worthy of emulation.

He was a general favorite with the young folks, in whom he always took a lively interest, and up to six months ago, when ill health forced his retirement, was an active member of the Fifth ward Sunday school. As a citizen, Joseph Brimley was the embodiment of industry and thrift and in early days did much to build up and make habitable the waste places. In his dealings with his fellow men he was honest and straightforward, reflecting in his every act the principles for which he left all that was dear and dear to him in his native land. He leaves six children, four daughters and two sons, with a host of grandchildren and several great-grandchildren to cherish his memory and emulate his good deeds. His wife died May 23, 1905.

The funeral will be held from the Fifth ward meetinghouse on Sunday next, the time to be announced later.

GREEKS TO WORSHIP.

Local Colony Will Erect a Church and Conduct a Night School.

Plans for the new Orthodox Greek church which is to be erected on the west side upon a site purchased a few days ago by Leon Skliris and associates, have been completed and work upon preliminary excavation will commence in a few days. The Greeks propose to establish their church in Utah upon modest lines and for the present a building costing in the neighborhood of $5,000 is to be erected. In addition a night school for the study of English is to be started in connection with the church and it is upon the cards that a delegation of Greeks will wait upon the members of the board of education to find out whether it is possible to secure the aid of its services in securing a suitable teacher.

It is the intention to make American of the greater number of Greeks in Utah," said Mr. Skliris this morning, and to do this it will be necessary for them first to learn English and then to study the history of this great republic. There are something over 2,000 Greeks employed by the railroads, smelters and mines of Utah. For some time past the Greeks have been establishing a closer union among them. They miss their church services which they enjoyed in their native land, and the establishment of a church is now in full swing and the beets are looking fine with every prospect of an immense crop.

The priest in question has attracted considerable attention on the streets of Salt Lake during the last two weeks. He is a man of about 55 years of age with beard and hair that apparently have never known a razor or scissors. He dresses neatly in the orthodox style and wears his ancient black cassock, lined with the crown of a regulation stovepipe hat. Rev. Limberopoulos, upon his arrival here, was totally unacquainted with the English language but he is rapidly picking up a few quaint sentences of his adopted tongue. Apparently he is a great favorite among the local colony of the Greeks already, and he can be seen at all hours on the streets of the center of a smiling knot of his fellow countrymen.

WHAT WILLIS WANTS.

Thinks Title as Long as a Tel graph Pole Should A ways be Used.

Professor Willis Moore, the head of the weather bureau at Washington, appears much distressed because the proprieties of officials, head clerks, subordinate clerks, office boys, messengers, etc., as well as the offices themselves, are ruthlessly disregarded by careless newspapermen; and because the same are referred to in "any old way" that seems most convenient. Professor Willis Moore, the head of the weather bureau at Washington is very desirous that all of the ethical proprieties in the nation heretofore mentioned should be properly observed, and has issued a circular letter to all offices in the country urging that this very untoward condition of affairs obtaining with reference to the weather bureau be straightened out, and editors and reporters of newspapers be duly and religiously posted as to the necessity of maintaining an ethically proper and nice attitude toward the local offices of the weather in general and official titles in particular.

Professor Moore, the esteemed gentleman who perches on the top rung in each local meteorological office should by no means be referred to an sergeant, captain, major, colonel, or chief of staff, or in any other way than exactly just through the medium of address described and prescribed in the regulations herein made and provided; and local offices ought never, no never, or even hardly ever, to be referred to in the off hand and entirely unbecoming terms that unconventional reporters have come to use in such a really highly improper way.

Professor Willis Moore, head of the weather bureau at Washington, would have all newspapermen, always, if you please, refer to their local offices as "the local office of the weather bureau, department of agriculture, Washington, D. C." However, the addition of "U. S. A." may be optional with reporters or editors; the department will waive this much.

It will be just like some rude newspaper men to remark, in varying degrees of disrespect, that Professor Willis Moore's assurance in directing how night the engagement ends with "A Guided Fool," and the last opportunity to see "The Usurper" will be tomorrow afternoon.

Despite the fact that "The Sidewalks of New York" is one of the most popular pieces now going the rounds, it drew a packed house at the Grand theater last night. It is the concluding effort of the Mack Swain company, which has filled an engagement of the last four weeks, and the packed house was a good testimonial to the popularity of the company and its one, two, three prices. The play brought the old piece all its startling possibilities. Mack Swain as Horace Greenpeace Dobbin, doing even a little more than his share. Harry Farnum as Clarence Douglas and Cora King Swain as the wife, were also notably successful.

"The Sidewalks of New York" remains the bill for the rest of the week, including a Saturday matinee.

The sale of seats opened this morning at the box office for the engagement of E. H. Sothorn and Julia Marlowe, at the Salt Lake Theater next Monday and Tuesday evenings, when they will appear in Shakespeare's comedy "Much Ado About Nothing," and his great tragedy "Romeo and Juliet." Unusual interest will be felt in seeing Mr. Sothorn for the first time as Benedick and Romeo, while Miss Marlowe has long ranked as the ideal sweetheart Juliet and brilliant as the tantalizing Beatrice. There is reason to expect much from these two clever people conjoined, and a rare treat is in store for Shakespeare lovers in this engagement.

WARD ENTERTAINMENTS

Third Ward—Arrangements for the "festival of fun," which will be held in the Third ward for four nights commencing next Tuesday night, are now almost complete, and the affair promises to surpass any which the Third ward has ever given. One of the most pleasing features of the program will be the musicals, which will be rendered continuously during the evening by a special orchestra. Other features will be the witty sayings, catchy songs and pretty dances—the latter by graceful
